

SUCCESSFUL STORY

Happiness returned after six years

There is saying goes like if there is vision everything can be seen but if vision of eye is lost the whole world will be dark.

A thirteen year old girl, Ms. Kiran Teli, resident of Krishna nagar – 7 Karma, was compelled to live her life in such darkness for six years. She had been blind due to cataract in her eyes which can be cured by operation. She received her vision back after operation.

The first day (surgery day) Ms. Kiran and her mother looked very sad. In fact tear was rolling down from her mother's eye. Kiran herself was also looked very terrified. After escorting their daughter to Operation theatre, mother was crying like anything. But in no time their sadness transformed into happiness.

Kiran and her family were very happy when the doctor unfolded her bandage the next day after surgery and Kiran could see everything very clearly. The boundless happiness could be seen in the face of Kiran's parents.

When the bandage on her eye opened and doctor asked showing her finger to say the number of fingers she became very happy and said that she could see everything as before. She hugged everybody, her surgeon, representative of donor agency NABP Norway and all the staff and expressed her gratitude.

Mr. Ram Baras

Teli, Kiran's father had dream to send his daughter to school and make her well educated renowned person but due to her blindness she was compelled to live in the darkness. Because of the financial constraint they were not able to do treatment. She was identified as both eye blind during the free screening camp organized by Chhanda (Kalebabu) eye hospital with the financial support of icare NABP Norway. Later her operation was done in Rapti Eye Hospital, Tulsipur in the financial support of icare NABP Norway.

Kiran's father expressed his feeling that they were more than happy that their daughter has received new life. He further said that they have found the hospital in the form of god. He also said that they will realize the dream of their daughter to get education.

A medical team headed by ophthalmologist Dr. Suresh Rasaili had performed the surgery of Ms. Teli. Mr. Sven Castberg from Business Department NABP Norway and other members and Mr. Hari Sharan Bista, Project Manager NABP Nepal had come to Dang during her surgery.

The team from Norway decided to offer her Rs. 130,000 for her further study. After the surgery, when she became fully sighted, she joined school. Now she is studying in class six.
