

Successful Story of Amita Chaudhary. "I will continue my further study now"

This is a successful story of a 16 years old young girl, Amita Chaudhary residing in Rampur VDC Ward No. 2 Balapur, Dang with her four siblings and parents. She hails from a poor family. The income from their small land is insufficient to feed the family of seven members hence they are compelled to work in other peoples' home.

As per the story recited by Ms. Amita, while she was in grade six studying in government school, gradually her eye sight started to become low and she was going totally blind in both eyes. She could not do anything by herself; going to school was almost impossible to her, so she has to stop studying as well. She used to cry a lot locking herself in the room because children used to annoy her a lot.

One day, one of her relatives brought her in Lamahi Eye Hospital. She was diagnosed as cataract in both eyes. Besides, blood test showed that she had high blood sugar level. Doctor suggested her to come for surgery when she had normal sugar level. She tried to control the blood sugar level with medicine first but it didn't work so, she took insulin to make her blood sugar level controlled.

She became ready for the cataract surgery but she had no money left because all the money they had, all spent to control the blood sugar level. After knowing her problem, the management of hospital decided to operate her at free of cost with the support of I-Care fund.

Her right eye was operated on first day. The next day when the eye bandage unfolded, she saw everything clearly, she was extremely happy. She shared her experience that was her first happy moment. After some days she got another eye operation too.

After operation, she expressed her feeling that Lamahi Eye Hospital gave her new life. She said that she was feeling a new enthusiasm inside her and She would continue her study and fulfill her aim. Finally she didn't forget to thank Dr Nita Sunam and all hospital team.
